HB24-1448, New School Finance Formula

The current school finance formula is certainly flawed. However, HB24-1448 is rushing through the Legislature in the final days of the session with minimal stakeholder input. This bill shifts education funding around with no additional or sustainable revenue.

Tell your legislators to oppose the bill for these reasons:

- While addressing elements of equity, the proposed bill ignores the need for adequate funding. Adequacy studies have not been done.
- The bill would negatively affect school funding sustainability, forcing a return to the “Budget Stabilization Factor,” which created significant problems.
- It lays the groundwork for vouchers...a step toward privatization of public education.
- If a November ballot measure to reduce property tax passes, this bill would cause further cuts to school funding.
